EVER WONDERED

▶ where technical field workers, missionary technicians, technology educators and students, and other tech-support personnel...

▪ meet with other like-minded Christians?

▪ share their technical knowledge?

▪ make international friends?

▪ learn about new technologies?

▪ hear great mission stories involving technology?

▪ solve technological and computer problems?

▪ tell others about their work?

▪ are encouraged and recharged?

The International Conference on Computing and Mission (ICCM) is an annual informal (NO ties allowed :-)) gathering of men and women who have a common interest in technology, computing and mission, providing opportunities for networking, learning and mutual support.

REGISTER FOR ICCM-AFRICA

▶ ICCM-Africa is held in March/April each year. Online registration opens in early November – visit www.ICCM-Africa.org to register. The conference fee covers the cost of the conference, lodging and meals for participants, and is kept as low as possible. Check our website for early-bird discounts, current information about this year's conference, to register online and sign up for the Twitter feed.

PROMOTE ICCM AFRICA

▶ We need help getting the word out to your techie friends and colleagues! ICCM-Africa's website has more information and resources (like this brochure in electronic form) to share with others.

HELP US ORGANISE

▶ ICCM-Africa is organized by the participants, for the participants. You can help ICCM-Africa in two ways:

▪ Teaching: If you are knowledgeable in a specialised area of technology, you are encouraged to attend and teach a workshop at ICCM-Africa.

▪ Serving: We need volunteers to help before, during and after the conference. Contact us at the address below if you can help.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON COMPUTING AND MISSION

SHARING A VISION OF COOPERATION FOR THE EFFECTIVE USE OF TECHNOLOGY IN BRINGING THE GOSPEL TO EVERY NATION.

WHAT TO EXPECT AT ICCM

WORKSHOPS

▶ A variety of technical and management workshops will be given by technical and management specialists to help you with your work. Workshops focus on topics such as security issues, time management, leading virtual teams, backup, Windows group policies or Linux servers and anything in between. A list of the actual workshops for the next conference will be found on the website in the run up to the conference.

NETWORKING

▶ The main goal of the conference is to get to know and network with other mission and ministry-minded computer people. ICCM-Africa encourages taking time to learn from each other and make new friends - people you'll be connecting with long after the conference.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

▶ Each ICCM-Africa has a main speaker who combines technical insight with the spiritual side of working in missions and ministry. It's a great opportunity to be encouraged in your faith and learn from another's experience in this field. More information about this year's keynote speaker will be given on the website in the run up to the conference.

TFM CONTEST

▶ The Technology for Missions Contest is an opportunity to show and tell, and win great prizes! We invite you to promote a project you were involved in that made a difference on the mission field. Everyone is encouraged to enter, so be creative!

WHAT'S HOT, WHAT'S NOT?

▶ This fun and interactive session encourages participants to give their opinion on current trends in computer technology. Thoughts on hardware, software or interesting gadgets are welcome!

WORSHIP

▶ We desire to focus our hearts and minds on Jesus – the reason why we do mission work and ministry. So every day at ICCM-Africa starts with a worship session. If you're a capable musician, you can join in too!

PRAYER PALS

▶ Get to know others on a more personal level and pray about ministry and life issues. It's encouraging to see how the Lord will often use these times of prayer and fellowship to create lasting friendships.

BOF SESSIONS

▶ What do you need or want to discuss? There are so many technical and management subjects that need attention, but which cannot be planned as a workshop. "Birds of a Feather" or BOF sessions bring people with similar interests together to meet and discuss these topics. The topics are voted on by the attendees, and session times and locations are published at the conference. You influence the programme!
